

MedShare Corporate & Civic Volunteer Group Engagement

Purpose: To inspire corporate and civic groups to take part in transformative volunteer experiences with MedShare that make a genuine difference.

Founded in 1998, MedShare operates on a powerful principle: bridging the gap between surplus medical supplies and the urgent need to enhance healthcare and protect our environment.

For over 26 years, our mission has actively addressed two critical and interconnected challenges:

- The lack of access to quality healthcare for uninsured and underinsured individuals in the U.S. and in marginalized communities around the world
- The overwhelming surplus of quality medical products discarded by healthcare systems and associated industries

By choosing to volunteer at MedShare, organizations not only prioritize well-being but also create a meaningful shared purpose. Each week, MedShare provides two engaging volunteer sessions on Thursdays for purpose-driven groups.

Every year, we rely on thousands of passionate volunteers who:

- Sort, inspect, and package essential medical supplies that directly support communities in need around the globe
- Take on leadership roles within MedShare's Health Access Alliance and Board of Trustees
- Drive positive change that aligns with UN World Health Organization initiatives and Sustainable Development Goals, working toward a healthier and more sustainable society. A powerful example is MedShare's Clean Birthing Kit, which includes 13 life-saving items that enable clean and safe births outside of medical facilities

We strongly encourage groups to consider making a financial contribution to amplify our mission. Together, we can develop impactful peer-to-peer fundraising campaigns, inspire matching gifts, and streamline ways to incorporate "dollars for doers" or other funding options that enhance our reach.

The importance of volunteering cannot be overstated, especially in today's divided climate. With significant disruptions in public health funding and cuts to humanitarian aid, the risks to vulnerable populations are greater than ever. We invite you to stand with us in prioritizing preparedness over inaction, ensuring that we are ready to respond to those in need.
